

CANADA, AIR SCHOOL FOR EMPIRE

Regular Meeting of Town Council Held Tuesday

By-law No. 224 Receives Second And Third Readings

The Town Council held its regular bi-monthly meeting in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening of this week, Monday being Thanksgiving Day and therefore a holiday.

The Mayor and all Councillors with the exception of Councillor Hope were present.

The cash statement for September as presented by the Secretary was accepted.

A letter of acknowledgment was received from the Department of National Revenue.

Several accounts as passed by the Finance Committee were ordered paid.

By-law No. 224, authorizing the Mayor and Secretary to sign an agreement with the city of Medicine Hat re Electricity to be supplied to Redcliff citizens, received its second and third readings. Meeting then adjourned.

HOUSEHOLD WORKERS GRADUATE IN CALGARY

Closing exercises for September class was held at Dominion Provincial Youth Training Centre Home Service School at Calgary.

Mrs. Margaret Lewis, Chairman of Women Board presided. Mrs. H. D. Tavis presented the certificates to seventeen graduates.

Miss Alexander recently appointed Dominion Supervisor of Training Schools was present and addressed the graduates.

The schools of which there are seventeen across Canada trained 1700 girls last year.

On the whole, said Miss Alexander, Employers have been glad to co-operate with the Training Schools and were glad to have the standard raised so as to justify higher wages.

Information regarding the school may be obtained by writing Employment Office of Canada, 7th Ave. W. Calgary.

Miss Mary Lideley, daughter of Mrs. Jno. Soukup Sr. was one of the graduates from the Youth Training School last week.

The water line to the Pressed Brick Plant on Seventh Street has been completed.

The local in last week's paper, which stated that the school population was over 300, should have appeared under the heading "Do You Remember?" the item was taken from our file of 25 years ago. At the present time there are 905 pupils in our local school.

Voluntary Registration of Women Underway

Canada Wide Survey For National Emergency

The work for the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women is progressing.

Since the 30th. of June Provincial Chairmen have been appointed for the provinces of Manitoba, British Columbia and Alberta. Mrs. Edith Rogers of Winnipeg for Manitoba, Mrs. F. J. Rolston of Vancouver for B.C. and for Alberta, Mrs. Margaret Lewis of Calgary.

Mrs. A. J. N. Terrill is the Chairman for Medicine Hat and Mrs. E. L. Stone will have charge of the local Registration both.

All women between the ages of 16 and 65 are being asked to voluntarily fill in the Questionnaire, a copy of which appears in the last issue of the Review.

One of the chief objects of the questionnaire, is to make a survey of the homes in Canada which would be AVAILABLE UNDER SUITABLE SUPERVISION TO TAKE IN THE British population under sixteen and over sixty in the eventuality of war in Great Britain.

This plan would relieve the British Authorities of the responsibility and delicacy of feeding this population, in war time, and would relieve the children from the dangers of malnutrition as well as the nervous and psychological strain of war.

Mr. Jos Bergeron has purchased the house lately occupied by George Kitchen on Second St.

Mr. and Mrs. Carten and children of Hayter, Sask. were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Martin over the weekend. Mr. Carten is a sister of Mr. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Klemm, who have been holidaying at Spokane and other western points for the past two weeks, returned home on Tuesday.

YOUTH TRAINING PROJECT TO BE RESUMED

Despite the war, Alberta will proceed with youth training projects held in co-operation with the federal government. It was made known during the week. So far this year activities have been confined to forestry work and leadership training, but the regular rural training courses will commence shortly. Opening of the Provincial Schools of Agriculture on October 18th will see the commencement of various activities, while the Calgary aircraft training courses will be held as usual. It is pointed out that no instructions beyond those already in effect, the R. C. A. F. not having yet ordered any special features of the training.

Recently the youth of Alberta are no laggards when it comes to enlisting in the flying army of the Dominion forces. Long lines of eager young men waited hours outside the Air Force recruiting office in Edmonton during the week, all anxious to uphold the fine traditions of Canadian combat flying men in the last Great War. At the present rate of applications, there can be no doubt about the effective support that Canada's airmen will give the mother country in the present struggle.

NO OPEN SEASON ON PRAIRIE CHICKEN AND RUFFED GROUSE THIS YEAR

Owing to the southern boundary of the open season for the above being inadvertently omitted from the regulations printed on the reverse side of the Bird Game Licenses and on the posters, some confusion has arisen. Therefore, it should be clearly understood there is no open season whatever on the above birds this year in the Province of Alberta south of the main line of the Canadian National Railway, starting at Dutton in the East and running through Wainwright to the city of Edmonton, thence west through Edson to the boundary of the Forest Reserve, just west of Entrance.

Local Men Who Have Joined The Colors

Help of Citizens Solicited to Keep This List up to Date

In this column of the Review we propose to print from week to week, the names of all those local men—or women—who enlist in the different branches of war service.

The following is the list to date. If it is incomplete we should be very pleased to receive any names which have been omitted.

John Balmer, Arthur Harris, Ted Harris, Oswald Swen, Geo. Kitchen, Jack McFadden, Tom Kwassnick, Gordon Newnham, Bruce Collard, Eli Shaw, John Rose, Norris Lawson, Ted Lawson, Ted Maskell, Tom Jones, J. Houghton, Jim Dutton, Ted Fairbairn, V. A. Greaves, Jim Jackson, Jack Learmonth, John Madsen, Orland Marty, M. Wasiowski, Harold Lenning, Jack Murray, Tom Migneault, Arnold Hurlbert, Jim Lecky, John Davies, C. Ambury, Lloyd Lawson, Henry Kitchen, Wm. Yates.

Those having a star after their names were not successful in the Medical Examination but should be noted as having offered their services to their country.

GORDON MEMORIAL

Sunday October 15, 1939

10.00 A.M.—Sunday School.
11.00 A.M.—SPECIAL.
At 11.15 A.M. there will be Morning Worship when Rev. Horace Burkholder, United Church Young People's Secretary for Alberta, and British Columbia, will be guest speaker. Rev. Burkholder has won the hearts of everyone in Alberta and British Columbia, since he came from the East to do Young People's work in the West, and he will have a message that will be timely and inspiring.
There will be no evening service.

Canada To Be Used As Advance Training School For Fighting Pilots

SIR KINGSLEY WOOD, ANNOUNCED CANADA AIR CAPITAL OF EMPIRE ESTIMATED 25,000 PILOTS WILL BE TRAINED ANNUALLY HERE.

Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary for Air, announced in the House of Commons, Tuesday, that Canada will be used as an advanced school for training pilots and air men of all parts of the Empire. The Governments of Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Canada have agreed to set up preliminary training schools in their own countries. Graduates of these schools will be sent to Canada for advanced technical training.

The scheme will mean that many thousands of pilots and air men will be trained in Canada. It was thought likely the number would exceed 25,000 annually.

In addition Canadian production of bombers and fighters and fighters will be speeded up and finished air craft flown across the Atlantic for delivery in the theatres of war.

A mission from Britain headed by Lord Riverdale, is already on its way to Canada to meet corresponding missions from New Zealand and Australia.

Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced Tuesday that Canada will be the centre for training the fighting airmen of the British Empire.

MILITIA RECRUITS WANTED

The Armouries at Redcliff will be open on Monday and Wednesday nights for the purpose of enlisting recruits into "O" Company of the 1st S. A. R. Militia.

Here is an opportunity for all men between the ages of 18 and 45 to brush up if they have had previous military training, and to train in military duties if previous training is lacking.

Men enlisting in this unit are not required to serve overseas unless former contingents are to be sent. In this case re-enlistment will be necessary and of course will be on a voluntary basis. Recruits into the Militia at this time could be called upon for home defence if an emergency arose.

Once the unit is recruited up to strength, courses will be held for N. C. O.'s, which will be conducted in such a manner as to acquaint veterans with the latest military practice and tactics.

It is felt that there are many men in Redcliff who will welcome this opportunity of preparing to do their bit for the Empire, providing they are called upon to do so. Here is the opportunity to at least start in that direction and every effort will be made to see that each recruit is properly trained and given an opportunity to qualify according to his ability.

J. R. Macdonald, Acting Captain, "O" Coy. 1st S. A. R. Redcliff.

PEACE OR WAR?

Peace, that blessed state, is already at this early date being talked about. Let us hope it will soon come. The terms upon which peace can be made have been set out concisely and simply by the leaders of Great Britain and France. They are that Hitlerism and Nazism shall be eliminated, that Poland and Czechoslovakia shall be restored as independent nations, and that disarmament shall be achieved.

When Peace eventually is to be made, it should not be left to the politicians alone, but the soldiers who have risked their lives, and the farmers who form the bulk of the people of the world, themselves shall have something to say about it. All to the end that not only shall a political peace be made, but what is perhaps more important, that economic justice too shall be done; so that it shall be possible for the under-nourished and under-fed people of Europe to obtain all the wheat and foodstuffs they require from our Canadian and other farms, in exchange for their own goods and products.

If these things are done, then the world truly, and at least, will have a just and lasting peace.

Mrs. Alf Baker (nee Beattie Dutton) left Sunday for Calgary where she will reside for a time, while Mr. Baker is in training with the Calgary Highlanders.

Thanksgiving Day, which fell on Monday of this week, passed off very quietly in town. Many took advantage of the holiday to go duck shooting and some very good bags were reported.

Privates Bruce Collard, John Balmer and Gordon Newnham of the Calgary Highlanders arrived home on Thursday to spend a few days with their respective families. The boys returned to their duties on Monday.

Inspector Ritchie of the Dept. of Municipal Affairs made his Annual inspection of the Town Books yesterday.

BRITISH AND FRENCH OBJECTIVE ON WESTERN FRONT

Here is an aerial view of the most important industrial town in the Saar basin, Saarbrücken, which is almost completely surrounded by French and British troops. The town is in the Siegfried Line.

When in Medicine Hat Call at the SNACK SPOT
Swedish Ice Cream, Soft Drinks, Hamburgers, Lunches and Coffee
Opp. Assiniboia Hotel, 3rd Street, Medicine Hat

"It DOES taste good in a pipe!"

HANDY SMOKE-POCKET - 15¢
1-1/2 LBS. "LOKTOPP" TIN - 65¢
also packed in Pocket Tins

TOBAC
GROWN IN SUNNY SOUTHERN ONTARIO

Everybody's War

For the first time in history Canada has declared war against another country—not a war against the German people who, in the main, are probably as peace-loving a people as are the Canadians, but against the authority in charge of the government of Germany. In short, against the dictator, Herr Hitler.

When Canada went into the great war of 1914-18 she had not assumed the full status of a sovereign nation and although this country, at that time, followed the lead of the Motherland willingly and even with enthusiasm, she did not have the breadth of choice that is hers to-day.

This time Canada grinds up her loins as a belligerent with all the force and power of a sovereign nation in her own right. She enters the conflict as a co-partner with and of the same status as Great Britain. She voiced her decision to do so of her own volition and expressed her decision in the democratic way, through her parliament, the symbol of the democratic form of government which the people of this country have decided to uphold against aggression.

What is more, the decision of Canada to participate actively in this war, as voiced through parliament, was unanimous. All political parties represented in both houses joined forces in uttering the decree which formally lined up this country with Britain, France and Poland against the dictator who is apparently willing to sacrifice millions of his own people as well as millions of the subjects of the democracies to enable him to satisfy his lust for power and conquest.

Unhappily as Canada is concerned, she has decided unanimously to play the role of a belligerent in a war to stop Hitler from continuing a campaign of international blackmail and terrorism. The people of this country have said, along with the people of France, Great Britain, Australia and other units of the British Empire that it is high time to call a halt to the kind of thing which has constituted a continual menace to the peace of the world for the last ten years.

The people of Canada, along with the people of the other democracies now in the fight, are peace loving. They are anxious to be allowed to go about their own business and to make progress in the fields of agriculture and industry without hindrance, enjoy their social life and the happiness and contentment which are rightfully theirs. But the people of this country are not willing to buy peace at any price. They are not prepared to sacrifice the liberty and freedom won for them by their forefathers. It must be a peace with honor—a peace which carries the right of self-government for Canada and all those nations whose people believe in that high privilege.

War's Responsibilities

Canada, having decided of her own free will and with all the authority of nationhood in her own right to engage in this conflict, the people of this country have, for the first time in their history, assumed all the responsibilities which devolve upon people who declare war upon others.

As a result of her decision to engage in this conflict, the nation's assembly, the people have decided that, for the present at any rate, they will wage this fight on a voluntary basis and this entails upon every individual in the country the responsibility of doing his or her utmost to do his or her share to the best of his or her ability and in the manner in which he or she may be best fitted.

Such an effort is going to entail sacrifices, but the people of this country have announced that they are willing to make the necessary sacrifices, no matter what they may be or how onerous they may be.

In this country, it is everybody's war. The duty of prosecuting the war with the utmost vigor is not confined to those who minister their services in the military, naval or air forces, either on the battlefield in Europe, if it should be decided to send an expeditionary force overseas, or to serve in the second line of defense on this side of the Atlantic. Nor is it limited to the members of the veterans' and nursing organizations who recently responded so nobly to the call for registration of volunteers for emergency services in this country and here.

No, in war time, the call is much wider than that. It embraces every man and woman and even the youth of the country. Agriculture, industry and the business of the country generally must be carried on with the maximum of energy and efficiency with the winning of the war as speedily as possible as the single objective.

The job in hand necessitates a single purpose guiding the activities of all our people, whatever they are in the field, the factory or the counting house; whether they be working in government office or teaching in the class room; whether they be business executives or drawing pay as artisans or common laborers.

No one knows how long this struggle is going to be. No one knows yet what resources of finance, industry and man power may be to be drawn upon. No one knows what people may ultimately be arrayed against the people of this country before victory can be claimed.

If for no other reason, these unknown factors dictate the necessity for preparedness and for the wholehearted and active support of all the forces this country can command in making those preparations and in waging this war. The war is a war for every Canadian.

University Closed

Work At Famous School In Heidelberg Is Discouraged Indefinitely

Heidelberg University, world-famous seat of learning which began to decline following the advent of the Nazi regime, will remain closed indefinitely, it was announced.

Only five universities in this country will continue classes during the winter semester. They are Berlin, Leipzig, Jena, Munich and Vienna. The five were deemed sufficient to handle the number of students during wartime.

Issue Is The Same

The issue can be stated as Lincoln stated it long ago, says the Toronto Star. With the substance of the issue, it is this: "That this world, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

In 1864 the Bible had been translated into 79 languages; to-day it has been translated into 835.

Two-thirds of the Argentine is also so converted.

New Marching Song

British Troops Have Adopted "Heigh-Ho" From Snow White

The old war song like "Tipperary" and "Long, Long Trail" are all being sung in England, but the most popular tune among the British troops right now is "Heigh-Ho" from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The soldiers have changed the original script to read "Heigh-Ho, Heigh-Ho, away to war we go."

Royal Precedence

Very few people, except those actually at Court, says the London Daily Sketch, know of the existence of a list printed on white cardstock in booklet form marked "Private" and headed—"Precedence of the Royal Family to be observed at Court. Approved by the King. This clearly sets out both separate and joint Precedence—the latter meaning when accompanied by husband or wife who may be of lesser rank.

Black horses are affected by heat more than are those of any other color.

William Kidd, famous pirate, was executed on May 23, 1701.

Kitchener Of Kharطوم

Romance With Pretty Irish Girl Spurred His Life

In an old grey farmhouse in County Kildare, miles from the nearest town, lives the woman Lord Kitchener of Khartoum married, writes E. Travers-Flood in the London Sunday Dispatch.

All through his life he was reputed to be a woman-hater. He never married. It was brief to the point of rudeness with women he had to meet. But his love for Miss Katie Kelly, farmer's daughter, whom he met when stationed at the Curragh in the late seventies, was never forgotten.

Now their story can be revealed—for the first time.

"My Dear Little Katie," he called her in his letters to her after they were parted. "I am only happy when I breathe the same air as she does," he once told a friend.

With her, his sternness vanished. The rather solemn young officer relaxed, became gay, as they rode together down the green hills that led from her home at Hill of Rathole, near the great military plain where war was being waged.

But there was a shadow in their lives. Miss Kelly's mother disapproved of young Kitchener, paying court to her daughter. Indeed, she did not approve of all of their friendship. For the Kellys were Catholics and, as such, Kitchener was a Protestant. It was on that rock that the romance was to founder.

Now a little old lady of nearly 80, she lives alone, her only companion a single maid-servant. In the improved farmhouse where the great soldier came to visit her.

Salaries Paid Teachers Claimed That More Than Half The Teachers In Canada Subject On Lowest Level

The depressing condition throughout the Dominion, as revealed in a report of the Research Committee of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, presented at the opening session in Montreal, recently cannot but cause widespread dissatisfaction. The statistics presented show the following sad picture:

More than 10,000 teachers in Canada are paid less than the mean legal minimum for female-juveniles in industry.

More than 19,000 teachers are paid less than the mean legal minimum for experienced women in industry.

About 23,000 teachers are paid less than the girl who binds the textbooks.

Nearly 37,000 teachers, or about 62 per cent of all Canadian teachers are paid less than the mean minimum for unskilled factory labor.

About 53,500 teachers, or more than 85 per cent, of the total number, are paid less than skilled union workmen.

The committee, in demanding that in the national interest a survey should be made of the Canadian teaching personnel in terms of the monetary value placed upon their services, says: "To put it bluntly, more than half the teachers of Canada live at the lowest level of self-supporting penurious existence, and it is time that more light was thrown upon their condition."—The Montreal Star.

No More Salients

Line Is To Be Kept Straight In This War

No new principle has been adopted in the new war which will make a difference between this and the last conflict. It has been decided not to linger in any one position. They are akin to what is known in boxing circles as "sticking out your chin." They invite attack. The moment of life lost in attacking and defending salients in the last war has taught a costly lesson. The line is to be kept straight and all effort is to be directed towards a general advance.

There is no pollen in the air 4,000 feet above the ground. All that hay fever sufferers need to do is get up there and stay until the season is over.

Booth Parkington may be 70, but Fenard and Willie Baxter, like Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn, remain forever young—and aging strong.

A cow requires about an hour to eat enough grass to regurgitate it suitably for assimilation to produce one quart of milk.

YOUR ADDRESS IN MONTREAL SHOULD ALWAYS BE

The MOUNT ROYAL HOTEL

Direction of VERNON G. CADDY

Have Been Preserved

Paintings On Sugar Panels Decorated Royal Wedding Cake

Had the Duke and Duchess of Kent gone to Australia in October as planned before the outbreak of war, it was expected that exquisite Hill paintings on sugar of Scottish castles and Grecian scenes would accompany them. These formed the decorations of their wedding cake, says the London Daily Sketch. Mr. Bryant emerged from his retirement at the age of 80 to help decorate the cake. He and his son had between them seen nearly a century of service. When eventually it was delivered at Buckingham Palace it so delighted Queen Mary that she asked if the painted panels could be removed intact before it was cut. Queen Mary had the little sugar panels mounted under glass, and they are thus in perfect preservation.

Searches For Nobodies

Sculptor Finds Men On Streets Who Are Fine Models

A man who has been touring Europe in search of "International Nobodies" arrived in London last week. He was Clarence Gilchrist, an American sculptor, who has spent the last three years sculpturing the heads of "men in the street" all over the world. Mr. Gilchrist's method is to find typical "heads," as he calls them, in each country he visits, and he doesn't care whether they are statesmen or dustmen. In the last three years he has visited some 30 different parts of his own country and has been all over South America and Canada.

Willing To Hidepen

On the question of staying out of war, the says have by a landslide. Our people dislike Hitler and they want him utterly beaten by a couple of other fellows, says The New Yorker.

Furnished Hotel Toun

A referee who didn't believe in half measures ended a football game at Cape Town when he sent a whole lot of men to the bench. He said he wanted them against unruly play several times.

Workmen found a letter 121 years old when they repaired an old house in Sydney, N.S. The letter, embossed in the window sill, was written in Halifax.

In walking one mile, the average person raises each of his feet a distance totalling a height of 340 feet.

Cheap Gasoline

German Planes Must Use Gas That Distillates Speed and Ignition Power

Germany may lose the war because she lacks "anti-knock" gasoline for her fighting planes. A well-known chemist said in Boston.

"Not enemy guns, but the 'knocking' of her airplanes' motors will tell the doom of Germany in this war," declared Dr. Gustav Engler, research director for an (American) oil products company of Chicago, in an interview.

Attending the 98th meeting of the American Chemical Society, Engler said Britain and France had facilities for developing "superior" gasoline from crude petroleum products obtained from the wells of Persia.

"On the other hand," he said, "Germany has principally the gasoline she obtains from coal—a product which not only diminishes the speed and carrying power of planes but cuts down their life span."

Monster Crab

Find Fossil Of Interesting Specimen In The Georgian Bay District

G. Althey, town clerk of Bedford, Ont., in the Georgian Bay district, said he had discovered the fossil of a monster crab along the shoreline near the blue mountains of Collingwood.

The body of the fossil is approximately three inches in length and the parts of the body found weigh nearly 60 pounds. The fossil is known as a "Silurian surprise," or "monster crab," and its original life size, Althey said, was six feet in length. Scientists estimate the Silurian age was approximately 100,000,000 years ago and lasted 4,000,000 years. It is believed the region where the fossil was found was once part of an island sea over the Gulf of Mexico extended north over the tip of Mexico to the continent.

Twenty Members Left

Who Were In British House When Last War Broke

Only five members of the present House of Commons were at Westminster on that hectic day 25 years ago at the outbreak of the war, says the London Daily Sketch. Only one of those 20 M.P.'s is still on the Treasury Bench—Sir John Simon, M.P. since 1918. Lord Winterton, Lloyd George, Sir Samuel Hoare, Mr. Churchill, Colonel Wedgwood, Lord Wolmer, Mr. Bone, Mr. Clynes, Mr. Asquith and the Speaker are among others who will vividly recall that dramatic day in 1914.

The Clever Quail

The Christian Science Monitor says the sleeping habits of a covey of quail are odd. The birds arrange themselves in a compact circle with heads out and tails towards the centre, and rest closely against one another for warmth. If alarmed, each one flies straight out without danger of collision.

Moist dogs, now extinct in New Zealand, had no seas.

Rubber trees are no more limber than the average tree.

SAVES YOU HOURS OF Heavy Work

A solution of Gillett's Pure A. Plate Lye will take the drudgery out of dozens of tasks. It clears clogged drains... lifts grease and hard-baked food from pots and pans... It saves rubbing and scrubbing because it cuts through dirt in a jiffy. Keep a tin handy.

Recalls Old Warning Church bells pealed forth in Danzig to acclaim the return to the Reich. This recalls the warning of old Sir Robert Walpole when his countrymen light-heartedly embarked on wars with Spain: "You are ringing your bells now; are you long you may be wringing your hands."

MICKIE SAYS—

"YES, SIR, I KNOW WE'RE IN THE DOGHOUSE NOW. BUT WE'VE GOT TO READ 'STRAWBERRIES IN A BOX'—JUST A LITTLE MISTAKE—BUT NOW I KNOW FOLKS READ YOUR AD!"

PARASANI

HEAVY WAXED PAPER

MADE IN CANADA

Does Your REFRIG. DRY FOOD? Hold the moisture by wrapping with Parasani HEAVY WAXED PAPER

Order Parasani to-day from your neighborhood merchant

Appleford PAPER PRODUCTS

WARRINGTONS AT WINNIPEG - REGINA - SASKATOON - CALGARY - EDMONTON

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The wartime prices and trade board announced the appointment of David C. Dick, of Cobourg, Ont., as wool administrator.

Premier Munnell has ordered preparations for Rome's 1942 international exposition to proceed despite the war.

The Chinese embassy released a declaration by General Chiang Kai-shek in China that "The European war should be seen as fight against Japan with greater vigor."

Appointer of Viscount Cobham, Lord Denham and Sir Edward Griggs as parliamentary secretaries, respectively, for the war, agriculture and information ministries was announced.

Hon. W. J. Asaniet, minister of mines, said plans are being worked out with Dominion authorities for development of tungsten and molybdenum deposits in British Columbia for use in manufacture of war materials.

A big improvement in Alberta's livestock industry and a good crop of coarse grains in the Peace River district were reported in the first crop report of the season issued by the Alberta department of agriculture.

Thousands of Canadian men and women in Great Britain have been interested for all types of defence service, the ministry of information said, while the Canadian high commissioner's office.

The London Gazette announced that the King has approved appointment of the Queen's Counsel-in-Chief of the Women's Royal Naval Service, and commandant-in-chief of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force.

The all-Canadian Congress of Labor gave quick assent to a resolution from the Montreal branch of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, suggesting that the armaments industry in Canada be placed under government control.

A Wonder Waterway

Scotland's Caladenia Canal Monument To Early Engineering Skill

News of a reduction in dues on traffic passing through the Caladenia Canal has stimulated public interest in what is one of the world's loveliest waterways.

Through this canal, travelling in one direction one day and back the next.

Right across Scotland from west to east stretches the Great Glen, an enormous trench scooped out by a glacial hand, and in this trench lie three lochs called Loch Oich and Loch Ness. As long ago as 1773 James Watt, the famous engineer, was employed by the Government to examine the possibility of linking up these lochs, and in this trench, at the end, by short stretches of canal, but it was left to his illustrious successor, Thomas Telford, to complete the survey and put the plan into effect, which was finally accomplished in 1822.

Passage through the Canal saves sea-going vessels a trip of 400 miles round the north of Scotland and incidentally takes them through some of the finest scenery Scotland has to offer. Even that portion of the journey which is through artificial channels—about 22 miles out of 60—is picturesque; in the lochs themselves the scenery is indescribably splendid. From Corraich, in the west to Inverness, in the east, there is not a dull moment, and although as an engineering feat the Canal has long been surpassed by more modern and greater ventures, it remains an inspiring monument to the engineering skill and enterprise of its time.

Population Of Canada

Population of Canada June 1, 1938, was estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at 11,195,000, an increase of 89,000 compared with 1937. There was an increased population in every province. Population by western provinces with 1937 figures in brackets: Manitoba 740,000 (717,000); Saskatchewan 945,000 (928,000); Alberta 783,000 (778,000); and British Columbia 761,000 (741,000).

"A golf ball leaves the club at a speed of about 180 feet a second when hit by the average golfer."

If small infections are counted Maine has more than twice as much coastline as Florida.

LIVING FORESTS

PLANT PLANTATION

ONE TREE PLANTED EVERY YEAR

PLANT PLANTATION

World Protect Food Supply

Swiss Householders Will Be Able to Have Their Own Stores of Food Stored 120 feet below the water level of the lakes and rivers, safe from the heaviest bomb, if an ingenious device devised by a wealthy Swiss Senator Dettwiler is put into practice.

Dettwiler, who is Swiss-born, the No. 1 provision dealer, with one business which alone has a turnover of about 60,000,000 Swiss francs, has founded a "Stock Tank Association" on co-operative lines.

The co-operative plan to stock shallow tanks in the lake or river low lakes and rivers, each tank built with footpaths or raw materials. The co-operative will sell shares, the holders of which will have the right to demand repayment in goods.

Tanks are said to have proved that the tanks would be safe from air attack as the water would absorb the effect of any bomb. The Federal Economic Department has approved the plan.

It is said that such technical problems as how to anchor the tanks so that they are immovable, how to fill and empty them and air the goods, have been satisfactorily solved.

The cost of storage is low, including amortization of the tanks. Temperatures will be at a constant level, so that the loss in weight would be negligible, and storage of such foodstuffs as eggs, fresh fruit, potatoes would be possible.

A Wonderful People

China Has Survived Many Calamities Throughout The Ages

The recent flood of the Hai River in North China is reported to have drowned 10,000 people, wrecked 120,000 houses and cost the country a property loss of 140,000,000. The Hai is a comparatively small river.

When the Yellow and Yangtze Rivers have gone on rampage for the past they have taken as many as 10,000,000 lives in a single flood, and China has been experiencing that sort of thing for ages.

And yet its population has continued to increase and numbers have gone on as usual.

A people that can stand the calamities that have befallen it throughout thousands of years visited upon dwellers along their banks has what it takes to survive in this world.

Left-Handed People

Should Be Allowed To Follow Their Instincts Says Scientist

If you are left-handed, don't worry. There was a time when people regarded the use of the left hand as something not quite nice. They would even turn you out of the house for doing them at dances or in restaurants.

Now some scientists say that it is wrong to make a child turn from his instinct—whichever hand he naturally uses is the right hand for him. In fact, to compel him to change may have a serious effect upon mentally and physically.

Looks Better Short

London Women Like Bobbed Hair Under Service Caps

Paris and New York may set the styles for peace but it is London that sets them for war. Already short bobbed hair for women has become fashionable in the British capital, and the hair dressers are enjoying a boom in business, so great is the rush of women to have the longer tresses shorn. Long hair and the longer bobs are not becoming under the uniforms and service caps of the women's auxiliary organizations, it has again been found.

Salvaging All Metal

Germany may Poland's battlefields will be a disappointment to scrap metal dealers. Empty cartridge clips, shells, steel helmets and other metal are gathered up after fighting ends.

And taken back to Germany, they said, to be melted and used again. The army has special units for this work.

Best Ingenuity

In Elkhart, Indiana, a young man selling a magazine was arrested because he claimed to be studying for a degree in engineering and offered that he obtained a degree, to perform free any operation needed by a subscriber. He can certainly be accorded first prize for salesmanship.

Colours of the mountains are said to be a disappointment to scrap metal dealers. Empty cartridge clips, shells, steel helmets and other metal are gathered up after fighting ends.

And taken back to Germany, they said, to be melted and used again. The army has special units for this work.

Is Always Accurate

Former Deputy-Secretary Of British Cabinet Was Wonderful Memory

A man with a prodigious memory for dates and figures accurately was of invaluable assistance. He knows all the secrets, but, despite tempting offers from publishers, he kept them all, says a writer in the London Daily Herald. Most of his life has been devoted to the service of the British.

He has served under four Prime Ministers—Lloyd George, Bonar Law, David Lloyd George and MacDonald. He retired in 1930.

Proletarian tunnels are to be constructed in the square in Moscow.

Young Irishmen are eager to join the Flying Corps.

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

Just Sixteen Years Ago

KIDNAP BOLEDO JUMPER STYLE

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

Were Out To Help

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

By Anne Adams

ROAD GUARDS AGAINST BAKING FAILURES

—BECAUSE
IT'S ALWAYS
PURE,
FULL-STRENGTH
ROASTED
CAKES

IN THE AIRTIGHT WRAPPER

© From Publishing Co.
W. N. U. Service

CHAPTER V.—Continued

It was July, the Montagnais "Moon When the Birds Mould," and the made was at its height at Fort George. Gradually the coast Crees were taking their families to summer fishing camps on the coast lands where the Herne's salmon, sea-trout and whitefish were schooling before ascending the rivers to their spawning grounds, and where the Canada geese, pintail and black duck would flock with their new broods. Remnants of the great loofers from Hudson's Straits, Fox Channel and the Bay of God's Mercy which had beset the coast in the spring, now drifted far in the great bay, slowly vanishing under the sun and the warm rain winds.

The remaining days of his stay were busy ones for Alan. There were supplies to be carefully checked, all of which he bought with his credit at the post. The money McDuff had given him he had carefully under the floor of his cabin. The extra flour, beans and sugar Noel got through Montagnais, as well as the extra gift which might some day, in the heart of the unknown country, save their lives. Bearing the havoc which the tongue of Mrs. Hanbury had undoubtedly created, at the Revillon Presses through the city Rivard, for days Alan evaded the parting with Berthe. But at last, hungering for the sight of her face, driven by the desire to defend himself, he went to the Revillon Presses.

Gabriel Desane and Pierre were busy with Indians, so Alan waited until the factor was free. As he bargained against the counter, Anne Rivard entered the room. Alan, flushed and went at once to the desk behind the counter where he busied himself with an account book.

No she's been here, surmised Cameron. Berthe knows Mrs. Hanbury came to my house. Rivard's lost no time telling her mother some news he told about that cat. There's still the chance for me now, with Berthe. "You tell me," he said, "but I don't do you any harm. Come down where I am talking to you."

In the empty talking Desane heard "You start with the police this week McDuff tells me. That is good!"

"Good?" protested Alan. "I can't help myself, can I?"

"No, but your going to Whale put you in a bad light here. Alan, everyone thinks you met this McDuff."

"You say you did not. For me that is sufficient." The other smiled inscrutably into Cameron's level eyes.

"I came to say good-bye to Berthe but she's turned away. I don't want the other night she heard I had been with Mrs. Hanbury and was jealous. Madame Desane, Rivard, they've been working on her."

Gabriel Desane related both arms to the sides in an eloquent gesture. "Now, what do you think, Alan? My wife has done at Fort George? My wife is now will speak hardly at all. Thank! Alan, it is terrible!"

Alan smiled at the older man's vehemence. "He tried to get information the night I was here, and three nights ago, she came to my house and—"

"And what, Alan?" Gabriel Desane was interested.

"Well, she may be a government agent but—"

"Go on, Alan."

"She tried her best to make me talk. I had nothing to say."

Desane seemed disappointed. He frowned at the distant hills across the great river. "She has been at me to attempt to learn from you if you met this McDuff—and to find out where she is a pretty woman, yes—a pretty woman," he said with a sigh. "She has made much trouble with me."

"Now about Rivard," demanded Alan, immersed in his own problem. "Do you object to my helping—"

"Do you object to my helping—"

"There is much time yet, Alan. You are both young—too young. You have your way to make—"

"But Rivard, he's wanting no one. Alan, he's wanting no one."

Alan, determined, vehemently. "Are you his friend or mine?"

"Desane, face sobered. "Rivard is sent here by the company. His family has influence. I am helpless. What is Madame Desane? He is very difficult."

"I see," replied Cameron, with a shrug. "I don't want to give her. Rivard will go up in the company. I feel. Well, I'll go and say good-bye if she'll see me."

"You must not forget that you are under a cloud here—the police may make serious trouble for you. But Berthe will see you. She is not happy. She does not know what to think."

Alan started to move away, but turned to the older man. "Oh, I want to ask you a question. When was at Fort Chimo did you ever hear of the River of Skulls?"

Desane stood for a time with knitted brows, seemingly groping deep in his memory. "I recall, now, an old Nakapi once told me about a River of Skulls where there had been a battle between the Indians and the Indians," he answered. "They exterminated each other. And their spirits now roam in the gorge near where the fight took place. He said some of the bones and skulls are still found along the shore. But the Indians were afraid of this mountain, Gorge, Manitou Gorge, the Gorge of the Spirits, as they called it, and many of them avoided it."

"Was this river far in the interior, south of Chimo?"

"Oh, yes, deep in the caribou haunts. He said it was a branch of the Kokopak, but no white man has ever been there. It's a country where even the Indians stare when they miss the deer migrations."

Alan bade the trader good-bye, then leaving the storey face of Madame Desane, went dejectedly to say his farewell to Berthe. At the door where once had been weeping, from the sound, appeared to be a heated argument, punctuated by the shrill voice of his friend, little Man-

on. At last the door was opened by Berthe.

"I am leaving in a few days," he said, probing her dark eyes in an attempt to read her thoughts. "I've come to say good-bye, Berthe."

"Come in, Alan," he said, with a faint smile.

"Berthe," he began, "I can't go with you feeling this way! It's all Rivard and this woman, I know. You don't understand what she's up to."

"I understand this much," the girl retorted bitterly. "She was at your house. She looked to Madame Rivard, at the Northern Trading Company, that she had twisted you round her little finger." Berthe hung back cautiously, her black eyes snapping as blood flushed her dark face.

There were tears in his eyes as he watched her wriggle with pride and doubt and the loyalty of years.

"Oh, it's not that! You're wrong! It's not this woman!" she protested. "It's your suddenly going up the coast when you were away—so long! You went to see Well, you know you did! Evermore believes it! It's that you went away and did not tell me the truth. I could not say so much for you and couldn't that. It's that I've lost faith in you—that's all! With a sob and a sigh, "Good-bye, Alan!" Berthe ran from the room.

CHAPTER VI.

There were only a few friends to bid Alan and Noel good-bye on their way to the Hudson's Bay Company when they loaded their canoe for the long trip to the headwaters. But, at the last, they were joined by a small party. MacQuen's helpers, with two hired Montagnais canoe-men, stowed the canoe in the police canoe. Next them, Desane and Rivard talked to MacQuen, Slide and Mrs. Hanbury. Shortly, the police and the woman who had turned Fort George into a hotbed of gossip withdrew from the group and talked, heads together, in low tones. Then, after hurried good-byes, the two boats headed for the far shore where Alan, for the first time, saw the coast. The Ugravae rounded the beach, was riding the flood tide.

Later, in front of the Northern Trading Company's sea-plane landing up the river, lifted, then in a long loop returned and passed over the police canoe.

Three days upstream, where the Big River roars down from the high plateau in the top of tall mountains and the Indian trail, for a hundred miles, follows a chain of lakes, Alan brought MacQuen and Slide to his camp.

"We're going to see a lot of each other in the next few months," he said the older officer. "Why can't we shake hands on this and be friendly?"

"What do you mean, friendly?" demanded Alan, studying the man's features, close-set eyes of the other.

"You're police. You can give me the day after the day, the men stand at pole, paddle and tracking line as they ascended the great river. At the moment they drew a close and the night sharpened with frost the canoe reached the forks in the high plateau. Northward, three days had poleing up the strong water of the Mad River, was Alan's hunt in country.

Fifty miles to the east, on the Talking, stood a cabin in a clearing where a man waited with a gift for the coming of a canoe. Far to the south, the great lakes Nicholson and Patemak emptied into the Conjuror, the largest of the three branches.

(To Be Continued)

Willing to Serve

Vancover Avialair Helped Train South African Air Force Recruits

Helen Harrison, who has an unruly head of light brown hair, is smiling and looking to her credit, is willing to train aviators to serve in the war. A battle between her girl, who gave stinging displays in her yellow "kook" plane at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, is now a good instructor and helped train 1,000 men for the South African air force reserves.

Six years ago she went up for a joy-ride and promptly decided to make a career of it. That was in England, where she was educated.

She said she may possibly be used to help train men for the Royal Canadian Air Force, but nothing definite yet. Miss Harrison said she would serve as a pilot for war duties if she was called upon.

Archaeological excavations reveal stone and clay torch-holding devices and lamps were found on the first article which man made for domestic use.

An automobile at sixty miles an hour moves 80 feet per second, thus putting the hospital just around the corner.

Get $4.00 for your OLD IRON

on a NEW Coleman Self Heating Iron

Heretofore dealers are estimated to have sold $10.00 per set and now you can get a new Coleman. It makes and holds more steam than any other iron. It is made of brass and is guaranteed to last.

SEE YOUR DEALER or write to us at THE COLEMAN LAMP & STOVE CO., LTD., 487 WEST TORONTO ST., TORONTO.

Father of Poultry Industry

Sir Edward Brown Founded British Poultry Club In 1877

Because of the war crisis the recent death of Sir Edward Brown went almost unnoticed. Poultrymen the world over owe a great deal to Sir Edward who has been called the father of the poultry industry. An amateur for his services to the poultry industry he was knighted nine years ago.

Edward Brown was born 87 years ago. He was the son of a miller, and in travelling around selling feed he became interested in poultry. An amateur for his services to the poultry industry he was knighted nine years ago. He was the son of a miller, and in travelling around selling feed he became interested in poultry. An amateur for his services to the poultry industry he was knighted nine years ago.

He established a poultry research station before agriculture was recognized as a science. He collected thought of such a thing. He founded the World Poultry Science Association and was the means of starting the World Poultry Congress which have been held in all parts of the world, the first being at Ottawa in 1921. The Congress met at Ottawa not long ago.

Poultry rearing is a peaceful occupation, although it does not seem to have much bearing on peace. Yet Sir Edward was an ardent apostle of international peace and tried to steer these events in the direction of encouraging friendly co-operation between breeders by exchange of letters and exchange of stock.—Thomas Times-Journal.

Protection For Docks

British Made Wartime Plans To Keep Them All Working

There is now fewer than 250 docks in Britain and dock and harbor officials worked out plans for the most of draft to keep the ports working in war emergency.

These draft schemes—one for each of the docks—involves the protection of the docks and warehouses and those who work in them.

In many cases the suggestions include the improvement of rail and road connections, the building of additional berths and warehouses and the installation of new plant.

Shipping may have to be diverted to the West in some situations, and Swensen submitted a plan to provide an additional entrance to the docks.

Port of London officials had under consideration various proposals for encouraging the river, and the Tyne Improvements Commission scheme included an elaborate system of air-raid shelters and trenches.

Sleep Was Costly

Man Taking Nap Lost Large Bet By One Hour

The costly drowsiness of a well-fed hogman village restaurant keeper almost pushed war news of Copenhagen from pages recently. The restaurant keeper had bet 5,000 crowns (about $800) he could walk round the outside of Denmark in three months, putting the nation's oldest war. With one day to spare and only three miles to go he stopped at an inn and enjoyed a pre-ventory sleep. With one day to spare and only three miles to go he stopped at an inn and enjoyed a pre-ventory sleep.

Returned To Madrid Art treasures of Madrid's Prado museum, sent out of Spain during the civil war by the Republican Government, have been returned to the Spanish regime. The paintings were taken from Geneva by special train across France.

The United States built thousands of aeroplanes for use in the World War, but very few actually were used, since hostilities ceased soon after their construction.

Philadelphia's baby elephant that recently arrived from Burma is believed the smallest now in America.

The Same To-Day

Britain Fighting For Security As She Did 150 Years Ago

It is interesting to recall the fiery speech of Pitt, prime minister of England, 150 years ago, like the great Chamberlain of to-day, was the genius directing affairs at home when the nation was fighting Napoleon.

The occasion of Pitt's speech was a query—now that comes from a man whose chief desire seems to be that he might have something to say at a critical time. "Tory," the man who asked the question, asked Pitt to state what the country was really fighting for. The absurdity of this question was painfully apparent, but Pitt was ready, not with a carefully prepared speech, where each sentence had been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

"The honorable member," said Pitt, bending angry brows upon his interlocutor, "defines me to state in one sentence the object of the war. I know not whether I can do it in one sentence; but in one word I can tell you that it is to secure our country against a danger, the greatest that ever threatened the world. It is security against a danger which has never been weighed and measured, but with an impromptu deliverance that has never been forgotten in history. It was to Pitt, Tory, strange as it might seem, would be a reply to any one asking the same question to-day.

DELICIOUS... REFRESHING

Enjoy the genuine peppermint flavor of DOUBLEMENT GUM! Get some today!

Yugoslavia's Boy King

Is Being Trained To Become Commander of the Supreme War Lord

Little King Peter, who refuses to hunt because he cannot bear to shoot a rabbit, is studying to become supreme war lord of his 15,000,000 subjects in Yugoslavia.

The shy, sensitive boy, whose widowed mother calls him "Baby Peter," has been enrolled as a buck private in one of the world's toughest armies. In two years he must become commander-in-chief of a country where warfare is snuffed into the race by years of struggle.

The 15-year-old monarch is in strict contrast to the un-manned, raw-boned, broad-shouldered youths who serve in his legion. Peter has brown eyes and delicate, almost feminine features.

His grandfather, the late Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, once remarked: "What a beautiful girl he would have made if he were not such a handsome boy!"

King Peter will receive the crown from his uncle, Regent Prince Paul, on his eighteenth birthday—Sept. 6, 1941. His classical education completed this spring, he must cram many years of military experience in the next two years.

Like other Yugoslav boys, he has received no preliminary military training for the government considers such instruction unnecessary for its youth. Yet Yugoslav Peter is a natural soldier because his family has waged centuries of incessant struggle and warfare with the Turks and other peoples.

Unlike other Yugoslav boys, however, King Peter will do his military studying at home. The faculty at the Belgrade Military School will come to his marble palace outside the city for his arduous task allows no time for entering barracks.

Destined For England

Italian Firm Ship Food Supplies Via French Channel Ports

It was learned in Madrid, Switzerland, that a large part of the food supplies which come out of Italy by way of the St. Gotthard pass were destined for England via French Channel Ports.

British agents of Italian ships reported that Italian firms already had so many blocked credits in Germany that they preferred to trade with the British for cash, rather than take more German coal in exchange.

Down in Nova Scotia they have begun to teach people how to speak Gaelic. Elsewhere we seem to continue to need instruction in how to speak English.

REPORTS!

medical tests reveal how thousands of WOMEN HAVE BEEN ABLE TO GET NEW ENERGY

If you feel tired out, limp, listless, moody, depressed—if your nerves are shaky and you feel like losing your very friends to move on—then you need a new energy. GET OUT OF THE man line and get into the woman line.

All you need is a good reliable tonic. But by far the best is the Pinkettes Vegetable Compound made especially for women. Let us tell you why. It's the most powerful and stimulating tonic to help digest and assimilate every wholesome food which your body uses directly for energy in help build up your system. It's the only tonic that helps clean your system, improves your circulation, builds up your strength, and gives you the energy you need to get on with your life.

Over 1,000,000 women have testified to the power of Pinkettes. Compound. Results made manifest by the fact that over 1,000,000 women have written to us saying they feel better, more energetic, and more confident.

GET IT NOW! Write to: Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

Dr. J. C. WORTH, TRINITY, N. C.

MONARCH

Medicine Hat

THURS. - FRI. - SAT.
OCT. 12 - 13 - 14.

Ann Sheridan

The Season's Gayest Picture!
"WINTER CARNIVAL"

with...

Richard Carlson, Helen Parrish, Robert Armstrong, Virginia Gilmore, Alan Baldwin, Marsha Hunter.

MON. - TUES. - WED.

OCT. 16 - 17 - 18

Year's Top Heart - Thrill Drama!

Carole Lombard, Cary Grant, Kay Francis, in

"In Name Only."

with

Charles Coleman, Helen Vinson, Katharine Alexander, Jonathan Hale.

COMING

OCT. 19 - 20 - 21

Big Crosby, Joan Blondell, Miesha Auer, in

"East Side of Heaven"

Mr. Jim Dutton was a visitor in Piapot over the weekend.

FASHION FUR SHOP

615 3rd Street

E. G. WALTERS, Proprietor

We Specialize In All Work Pertaining to Furs Such as

REMODELING
RELINING
REPAIRS and
CLEANING

We have just received a fine selection of fur coat linings. Orders taken for made to measure coats, at no extra charge.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED

Agent for STEIN and WRIGHT Manufacturers of Fine Furs

We Are Disposing Of

4 LADIES' CARACUL PAW

Fur Coats

Which were traded in and will go at a very reasonable price. This is an excellent opportunity to buy a good fur coat at a very low price. A deposit will hold any of these coats.

They can be seen at 314 South Railway Street, two doors from Library.

LEVINSON'S FURRIERS

Christie Block, Sixth Ave. Above Wright Jewelry

Improve Homes NOW

Now is the Time to Plan Build, Remodel and Repair Homes

We are equipped to give you assistance in carrying out your own ideas of the newest 1939 Home Plans to meet needs

The Gas City Planning Mill

First St. Medicine Hat

HEATERS

Discount On All Gas Heaters
Buy Now Before Advance In Prices

$2.90 and up

RAE HARDWARE

Medicine Hat

Phone 2918

The New Hard Surfaced Road Between Redcliff and Medicine Hat

BRINGS YOU NEAR THE BIG FURNITURE STORE

See Our Lovely Stock of Draperies, Fall Bedding, Dainty China, Dinette Suites, Chesterfields, Dining Suites, Bedroom suites, Studio Lounges.

WEEKLY SPECIALS

DINETTE SUITE in lovely walnut finish. Table with concealed leaf. Four splendid diners, 6 pieces - $4975

CHESTERFIELD SUITE in lovely silk tapestry. New wood trim and two matching chairs. Only $68 75

BLANKETS grey, white and colored pure wool. pr. $6 95

J. J. MOORE & SON

phone 2787

Near Medicine Hat Garage

Interesting Local Items

Mrs. L. Lew's spent Thanksgiving Day visiting with friends

A Cadet Corps is being formed for Redcliff school. Some of the equipment has already arrived.

Since the shooting season opened last Friday, some good bags have been brought in by local sportsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Worts and Cyril spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sil Worts, at Piapot, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Norman Meldrum, of the Dominion Glass Co. Here, left on Monday night for Montreal, where he will holiday for a time.

Miss Norma Osgood who has been visiting with her father who is in hospital at Edmonton, returned home on Sunday.

Mrs. E. L. Stone has been selected to take charge of the Registration of the women of this district in connection with the V. R. C. W.

A General Meeting of the Local Red Cross will be held in the Town Hall on Monday, Oct. 16th at 8 P. M. All Members are urged to be present.

Mr. Dolson, Sales Manager for the Dominion Glass Co., at Vancouver, was a business visitor in town at the week end, leaving for Montreal, Monday.

The following Calgary Highlanders came home on leave Friday: Jim Jackson, Geo. Kitchen, Jack McFadden, and Ted Harris. Most of these returned yesterday to their duties in Calgary. Jim Jackson will remain until Sunday.

There was a splendid response to the call for Militia Recruits at the local Armories last evening. Between twenty-five and thirty men gathered to take advantage of the training offered. Particulars regarding recruiting will be found elsewhere in this issue.

KENTLEY JOHNSON
For Accident, Fire and
Sickness Insurance
Trust & Fidelity Bonds
7th Street, Redcliff

Lang Bros., Ltd.
INSURANCE

Fire, Accident,
Life, Sickness
651 2nd St. Medicine Hat
Telephone 3284

DEMAND

Brookwood Bakery Products

FRESH BREAD
CAKES PASTRIES

Delivered at your Door Daily
By Our Salesman.

PHONE 2422 Medicine Hat

PROP. R. BASTIEN

Robert Buchholz of the Royal Air Force in Calgary, spent the week end here with his parent Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buchholz.

The remodelling of the building on Third St. to be used as a Fire Hall has been completed so far as plans for this year are concerned. Other improvements may be added next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonney and son, of Brooks were visitors with the Shaw and Martin families over the holiday.

Two Auditors from Geo. A. Tomche & Co. of Calgary were in town last week, auditing the books of the Gas Co.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kilner have moved back into their own house after being in the Kitchener Block for the past few months.

Mr. Thos. Bassett, General Manager of the Dominion Glass Co. who was in Redcliff for several days last week, left for Montreal Monday night.

Miss Jill Mackenzie celebrated her sixth birthday on Tuesday, Oct. 3rd when a number of her little friends were invited to her home for a birthday dinner.

The Redcliff School has just received, as a gift from the GIDEONS, the Christian Commercial Men's Association of Canada, seven fine volumes of the authorized version of the Bible, for teachers and pupils. These Bibles have reference notes in the side columns, printed on fine quality paper, and are splendidly bound.

ONE ONLY ELECTROLUX REFRIGERATOR

LIKE NEW
A GOOD DEAL FOR CASH
See Our Line or
COAL AND GAS RANGES
ALSO RADIOS
D. A. NORRIS & CO.
2nd Street Medicine Hat

SILVER'S

PHONE 2415

SPECIAL
THIS WEEK
10% OFF

All Winter Coats,
A Deposit Will Hold

- DRESSES -
Reg. $5.75 and $6.75
FOR $3.75

- HATS -
Big Shipment Arrived
At $1.95

SHOPPING FESTIVAL

BIG NEWS FOR FRIDAY SATURDAY and MONDAY

Men's Work Shirts. Well Tailored Work shirts made of good wearing cotton flannels, Big and Bonny, Colors Sand and Blue. SPECIAL $1.00

MEN'S OVERCOATS. Very high quality pure wools in Tweeds and plain weaves. Raglan and Guard Models, new Greens, Blue and Browns. SPECIAL $18.50 & $19.50

UNDERWEAR. Men's cotton rib combinations slightly fleeced, long sleeve ankle length, real Value at $1.35

BOYS SCHOOL BOOTS, Good Wearing quality, fitted with solid leather soles that are 3-4th nailed and sewn. Sizes 11 to 24. Price $1.95

WORK BOOTS, Sturdy Work Boots, tough elk and grain leathers, will give hard wear, some with Pano Soles. PRICE $2.95

BUY in Redcliff and Help Your Own Town

THE HICKS TRADING CO.

Arrangements Of Distinction

Wedding Bouquets

Funeral Designs

When You
"Say It With Flowers"

Say It With
"OURS"

BIRTHDAY GIFTS, ANNIVERSARIES, DINNERS, AFTERNOON TEAS, THANK YOU GIFTS, HOSTESS GIFTS, ETC.

Harward's House of Flowers

231 - 6th Avenue, Medicine Hat.

Proprietors
MILDRED HARPER
EDWARD WARD

Phone
Day 2285 - 8
Night 2130

FREE OFFER

Free Initial Notepaper . . . on any Personal Christmas Card order of 18 Cards on more from any design in samples selling at not less than $2.00 Per Dozen.

THIS OFFER WILL END
OCTOBER 31st

16th Annual Rotary CARNIVAL

MAJOR PRIZE
STUDEBAKER CHAMPION SEDAN

3 Cash Prizes of $25.00
Each and Special Cash
Door Prizes,
Thursday & Friday Nights

23 Midway Attractions
Arena, Medicine Hat Oct. 12, 13, 14

Revenue From Carnival Will Be Used in the Interest of the Community.